PUBLIC CONSULTATION TO BE HELD ON LOCAL PLAN REVIEW OPTIONS

Council plans series of events for residents to have their say on controversial proposals

Report by Kenny Parker

CONTROVERSIAL plans that could shape the future of development in West Lancashire for the next 30 years have been approved for public consultation by the borough council's cabinet.

Now the Preferred Options paper as part of the Local Plan Review will be the subject of a six-week consultation exercise commencing on October 12.

As part of that process, the council will be holding a series of events around the borough at which officers will be available by appointment to meet local residents to explain the proposals and answer any questions they may have.

Details of these events will be published on the borough council's website and in the Champion.

However, the Preferred Options proposals have been rejected by both the Conservatives and the Our West Lancashire group who say that the current Local Plan, which runs until 2027, is adequately meeting the needs of the borough.

Speaking at a press conference three days after the cabinet meeting where the consultation was approved - a meeting which saw angry scenes involving members of the public leading to police being called - council chiefs appealed for the proposals to be given a "fair crack of the whip".

Included in the proposals are plans to release 190 hectares of land for employment purposes and also make provision for nearly 16,000 new homes.

The council claim this will only involve turning over 1.7% of land currently earmarked for Green Belt (590 hectares) and that West Lancs would still have one of the largest Green Belt areas by percentage of any borough in the country. Meanwhile making enough land available for development needs for 30-plus years would leave the authority in a better position to refuse any applications for development not in line with the Local Plan, it's claimed.

John Harrison: 'An exciting blueprint for the borough's future'.

Councillor Ian Moran: 'A game changer for Skelmersdale'.

Council chiefs say market competition for land will also have the knock-on effect of keeping house prices lower and provide more affordable housing, while not actually seeing more houses built overall.

Central to the plans are the creation of three garden villages in Skelmersdale, a logistics park alongside the M58, along with a new knowledge park (for hi-tech businesses) and student accommodation village on St Helens Road, Ormskirk.

The authority says that proposals for Skelmersdale would make a significant contribution to the business case for creating a Skelmersdale rail link.

Council leader, Councillor Ian Moran, who lives in Skelmersdale, said that the plans are a "game changer" for the town.

And Councillor John Hodson, the council's portfolio holder for planning and chair of the Local Plan cabinet working group, said that if approved the plans would ensure that West Lancs would benefit from the economic development taking place between Liverpool's Superport, the Atlantic Gateway and Salford Quays. If the council did not make any provision, he said, the borough would be left behind.

John Harrison, the authority's director of development and regeneration, added: "The proposed new Local Plan will be an exciting blueprint for West Lancashire's future. It will enable the council to better manage new development in a way that creates more sustainable communities, provides homes for all parts of the community and increased employment opportunities for local people by taking advantage of opportunities emerging from the anticipated economic growth in the region."

However, Conservative group leader, Councillor David Westley, said that his party was fundamentally opposed to the plans.

He said: "If the public consultation fails to make Labour see sense, scrap their crazy new Local Plan and start again then residents have the democratic option of punishing them at the ballot box.

"There will be opportunities to do this before the new Local Plan is formally adopted i.e. at the borough elections in May 2019 and 2020."

And Our West Lancashire is calling for public meetings "that will work with residents, pooling expertise and knowledge, to ensure that those in affected areas are best able to make their voices heard through well-argued representations."

Dental professionals raising funds for African clinic project

Caring colleagues are halfway to £5,000 target

Report by Kenny Parker

A DENTIST and dental nurse from an Ormskirk practice are raising money to provide much-needed treatment for poor communities in South Africa.

Claire Uttley and Amy Robinson from Ravat and Ray Dental Care, located within the West Lancashire Health Centre at Ormskirk Hospital, have joined up with charity Dentaid to set up outreach clinics in the rural village of Melkhoutfonthein, where it is otherwise difficult for people to receive treatment.

Dentaid provides access to safe affordable and essential dental health care to those in the poorest areas of the world and runs numerous volunteering projects.

Donations

Claire, 33, who lives in Ormskirk, and 31-year-old Amy, who lives in Skelmersdale, have already raised nearly £2,500 to finance their trip, which will take place next March, through donations and a host of fundraising activities, including cake sales, raffles, selling tooth timers for children and a family fun day.

Their ultimate target is £5,000, which would cover the cost of flights, accommodation, transport, meals on work days and dental supplies.

Claire said: "We have never done anything like this before. Our main reason for doing this is to help communities less fortunate than ourselves.

"We are very skilled in our day-to-day work and we wanted to help utilise these skills internationally."

To donate to Claire and Amy's trip go to www.justgiving.com/crowdfunding/claire-uttley-1.

N.B. Although the fundraising page refers to their initial plans to go to Zaire, the money will be used for the South Africa trip.

Developers submit new application as part of town-centre regeneration scheme

Report by Henry James

An artist's impression of what the scheme will look like

THE developers behind the proposed regeneration of Skelmersdale town centre have put in a new planning application to seek approval for the Lidl store proposal, as well as other changes to the approved plans.

St Modwen has agreed terms with Lidl and B&M stores to take units in the development on land to the south of Ingram, Birch Green.

The new application also includes approval for changes to different blocks at the development and for changes to car park layout.

The developers have said that the Lidl store would use modern materials and extensive glazing. It has been included in the new planning application as its size is above the relevant floorspace threshold.

Developers add that improvements to the appearance of the Tawd Valley will enhance "views and increase usage of the associated parkland and paths, and by overlooking will open up the Tawd and improve natural surveillance of the area and create a more open and safer environment."

St Modwen aim to "further improve" the streetscape by creating linkages between the Concourse centre and new college. They add: "This will create a more open appearance and feel to the town centre and create a thoroughfare to each of the respective areas."

They comment that lighting and CCTV will result in a trading environment which is "attractive" and minimise the prospect of anti-social behaviour.

St Modwen want the development to meet diverse needs. They say the development aims to be "highly accessible" and provide opportunities for the less mobile to move around the site.

In a design and access statement for the new planning application, Aylward Town Planning Ltd. looked at parking at the development and come to the conclusion that there can be "no significant adverse impact upon the operation of the highway network that would warrant refusal, and the commitment to facilities for non-car modes weigh in favour of the development."

They also state that the scheme follows national and development plan policy.

Councillors have until October 5 to respond to the application.

Parties blame each other after ugly scenes at cabinet meeting

RIVAL political parties in the borough have blamed each other for angry scenes at a cabinet council meeting where the council leader, Councillor Ian Moran was spat at, other councillors abused and the police called.

An estimated 100 members of the public attended the meeting at the council offices in Ormskirk last week where the cabinet approved the consultation of the controversial Preferred Options Local Plan Review.

Both the Labour and Conservatives accused Our West Lancashire's Councillor Adrian Owens of misleading the public into believing that they could speak at the meeting.

And Tory leader, Councillor David Westley accused Cllr. Moran of failing to control the meeting.

A spokesperson for the Labour party said: "The cabinet meeting saw unprecedented scenes when around 100 residents turned up to protest, having been misled by the Our West Lancashire political party as to the nature of the meeting and draft proposals for the next Local Plan.

"Cllr. Owens knows full well that the structure of cabinet meetings are not the democratic forum in which residents can best have their say.

"It was unfortunate that the police were called but when council officers going about their daily work fear for their personal safety then something is seriously wrong with the conduct of some members of the public.

"The leader of the council was spat on, councillors were abused and officers were intimidated."

Cllr. Westley also accused Cllr. Owens of misleading the public but added that the leader of the council should have dealt with the situation as it unfolded.

He said: "If Cllr. Moran had been decisive at the outset, been more communicative and managed the situation, the subsequent public frustration could have been avoided as well as the perceived need to call out the police."

Meanwhile Cllr. Owens commented: "We have placed a video of the meeting on our Facebook page and people can form their own opinion.

"This cabinet meeting was the only opportunity for residents to raise their concerns about how the proposed local plan consultation was to be organised before the decision to start the consultation was made."

A spokesperson for Lancashire Police said: "We were called around 7.35pm on September 11 following reports of a public order issue at West Lancashire Borough Council in Derby Street, Ormskirk. Officers attended and no offences were reported."

Appeal for information after seven-year-old hit by motorbike yob

POLICE are appealing for information after a seven-year-old boy out with his dad was knocked from his push-along scooter by a yob on a green off-road bike.

The incident took place at about 5.25pm on Saturday, September 15 near Summer Street, Skelmersdale.

The rider, who was wearing a hoodie and is believed to have been accompanied by another biker, failed to stop.

The victim, Oliver Kiernan, was taken to hospital with injuries sustained as a result of the collision but is now back at home.

The youngster's mother commented: "Oliver is in a lot of shock and had to spend the night in hospital but should be okay. Please if anyone has any information let me know so I can pass it along to the police. Also, please everyone be careful, I don't want this to happen to anyone else's child.

"Oliver is badly bruised and very shaken. Thank you to everyone who sent kind messages and has tried to help. I am not going to let this go and we really need to find the person who did this before someone gets badly hurt."

Oliver was left bruised and shaken after the incident.

Meanwhile, West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper believes the incident underlines the need for a more visible police presence.

She said: "This is an unfortunate and ultimately avoidable incident which has caused injury to this young boy. I have repeatedly raised this issue with Lancashire Constabulary and Lancashire County Council and I am assured that motorbike nuisance is a priority for the police.

"Residents need to feel safe in their communities and until they can see a more visible police presence and an example being made of one of these illegal riders they will remain fearful.

"I am relieved that this child did not sustain even more serious injuries at the hands of this reckless rider and wish him a speedy recovery."

Under Section 59 of the Police Reform Act 2002 police can confiscate motorcycles from anyone who rides their bike illegally and in an inconsiderate or careless manner.

Residents who have any information about the bike or rider are asked to contact PC 3080 Kershaw by ringing 101 and quoting log reference 1177 of 15th September.

Volunteers wanted to help Rangers 'shape' Tawd Valley

MEMBERS of the public are being invited to go along and help West Lancashire Borough Council's Parks and Countryside Rangers shape Tawd Valley Park into a haven for people and wildlife.

The Rangers are holding a rolling programme of activities, entitled Team Tawd Eco Days, where volunteers can learn new skills in a friendly social environment.

Activities will vary according to the seasons but will include woodland management; vegetation control ; environmental improvements; path clearance and creation; pond clearance and maintenance; orchard creation; and hedgerow creation and maintenance.

Sessions are currently running from 10am each Friday and as from October 6, the first Saturday of each month.

Anyone interested in joining in should meet at the turning circle at the end of Summer Street in Skelmersdale (postcode WN8 6XJ).

Anyone wishing to take part is reminded that it is important to arrive promptly as the activity locations will vary from the meeting point. And it is strongly recommended to wear suitable wet weather resistant clothing and robust footwear. Any personal protective equipment required to carry out the various activities will be provided by the Rangers.

No experience or existing skills are required as full instruction, equipment and guidance will be provided. Also, it is recommended that people bring a packed lunch if intending to stay for the full duration.

For more details contact the council's Parks and Countryside Ranger Service on 01695 622794 or email beacon.park@west-lancs.gov.uk.

Primary pupils take part in photo project to promote better hygiene

PUPILS at a Skelmersdale primary school are set to be the focus of an exhibition by the world-renowned Fotograviska centre for contemporary photograph in Stockholm as part of an initiative aimed at promoting better hygiene among children.

Acclaimed Swedish photographer, Åsa Sjöström, spent the day at Little Digmoor Primary in Abbeystead capturing shots promoting better hygiene, with a particular focus on hand hygiene.

Pupils and teachers used an ultraviolet machine which reveals germs on people's bodies to demonstrate how germs spread and the importance of proper hand-washing.

The images will be exhibited later this month by the Fotograviska organisation which has hosted exhibitions of work by acclaimed photographers including David LaChapelle and Annie Leibovitz.

Man left in agony after hip replacement

Report by Danielle Thompson

A SIXTY-year-old man was left in agony for five years after a surgeon failed to spot a loosened hip replacement.

In September 2010, James Brolly visited his GP with hip pain and went for an X-ray with the consultant orthopaedic surgeon.

The X-ray revealed a loss of cartilage in the right hip joint and he underwent a total hip replacement at at Renacres Hospital in Halsall in December of that year.

The father of seven from Southport was discharged from the hospital but, just two months later, he started to suffer from extreme pain in his right groin and knee, and was unable to walk. His new hip was X-rayed to check for any loose connection but the consultant's feedback was that it was in a good position with no loosening or failure, while two more X-rays, a bone scan and leukoscan were all said to be normal.

But as the grandfather was continuing to experience a lot of pain, he had an operation to release his right tendon in March 2012. This slightly eased the pain in his groin, but Mr Brolly's knee got worse and an X-ray led to him undergoing a full knee replacement in 2014.

James Brolly with his wife, Linda

Ordeal

However, in the days and months that followed, he continued to experience significant discomfort, and relied on strong pain relief including Tramadol.

In April 2015, after consultants had failed to spot any issues with the hip replacement on 10 separate occasions, Mr Brolly underwent an ultrasound of his right hip, which the consultant again noted did not show any loosening.

The pain continued, and after visiting his doctor in September 2015 and requesting a referral to Wrightington Hospital for a second opinion, the loosening of Mr Brolly's hip replacement was finally diagnosed and a procedure was performed at Wrightington and completed without complications. Since being discharged, he has experienced no pain.

Medical negligence firm Fletchers Solicitors, brought a claim against Southport and Ormskirk NHS Trust who admitted liability in April, apologised and paid out a five-figure sum (not disclosed) to Mr Brolly.

Mr Brolly said: "Although I'm happy the ordeal is over, it's been difficult to shake off my anxiety as I'm always waiting for the pain to return.

"It's extremely difficult to explain just how bad the pain was. I could just about manage to go to work as a HGV driver, but this was certainly impacted by my lack of mobility and the high dose of medication I was taking.

"As a result, I had to take time off, which contributed to me being made redundant. I then had to take a role elsewhere that paid considerably less."

Dance duo put on a dazzling display for care home residents

Carol McKenna and husband Tommy take to the floor for their special performance at Stocks Hall Nursing Home.

RESIDENTS at a Skelmersdale care home have been treated to a spectacular display of fancy footwork - courtesy of their very own ballroom champions.

Carol McKenna, a nurse at the Stocks Hall Nursing Home, and husband, Tommy, raised £600 for Cancer Research UK earlier this year by taking part in Ultra Ballroom, a unique opportunity to learn to dance with professional training while helping charities.

And the twinkle-toed twosome, along with their Ultra Ballroom friends, took centre stage in the White Moss Road home's dining area to serve up an array of dazzling dances for an appreciative audience.

Mark Clintworth, a member of activities staff at the home, said: "It was a great afternoon with the audience clapping, smiling and supporting them along. Towards the end of the performance, we also held a karaoke session with many people enjoying the opportunity to get up and have a sing-a-along."

Chance to hand in deadly weapons as part of knife surrender campaign

RESIDENTS in West Lancashire are being urged to hand in weapons as part of a national knife surrender campaign.

As part of a week-long surrender campaign running from Tuesday (September 18) Lancashire Police is encouraging members of the public to dispose of knives anonymously at stations in the county.

In Skelmersdale knife bins will be available at the Tanhouse and Digmoor community stations.

The surrender is part of Operation Sceptre, which aims to remove dangerous weapons from the street, reduce knife crime and raise awareness of the dangers and consequences of carrying a knife.

Chief Inspector Mark Baines, Lancashire Police's co-ordinator for the knife surrender, said: "While knife crime is not a major problem in the county, a knife is a lethal weapon and even one on Lancashire's streets is one too many.

"During our last campaign in February, 106 knives were surrendered to police. Among the weapons given up were combat knives, kitchen knives and large blades.

"I hope that our communities will again help us to remove such items and help to keep everyone safe.

"If anyone is in possession of a knife and is unsure what to do about it, I would urge them to take this opportunity to dispose of it anonymously and safely.

"In particular, I want to appeal to youngsters who may be tempted to carry a knife because they believe it offers them protection. Having a knife in a public place is a criminal offence, with young people more likely to be stabbed and seriously injured with their own weapon.

"I would also ask people to provide us with information about knife crime in their area.

"If you know your partner regularly carries or uses such weapons, please encourage them to hand these weapons in over the next week without fear of prosecution.

Ch. Insp. Mark Baines with some of the knives previously surrendered.

"Don't run the risk of ending up with a criminal record or a life-changing or even a potentially fatal injury."

There will also be special bins at five designated police stations in the county - Burnley, Greenbank (Blackburn), Preston, Morecambe, and Nelson. Anyone can dispose of a weapon anonymously, whether it belongs to them, a friend or a relative.

Any knives or offensive weapons which are too large for the bins can be handed in at the front counters at the designated police stations and residents are asked to ensure the knives are wrapped in newspaper, cardboard or tape.

Ch. Insp.Baines added: "Lancashire Constabulary has a zero tolerance policy toward possession of knives in public, and I want to reassure residents that will continue during the surrender.

"Anyone found in possession of a knife during the surrender, who is clearly not en-route to a police station to hand it over, will be dealt with appropriately. You can be arrested, go to court and receive a police record or even a prison sentence of up to four years and an unlimited fine.

"If you have information about the possession of knives or offensive weapons or criminal activity relating to this type of crime, make a report online via the Lancashire Constabulary website.

"You can also report information anonymously to the independent charity Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111."

Lancashire's Police and Crime Commissioner, Clive Grunshaw, added: "I fully support Lancashire Constabulary's involvement in this campaign to remove knives from our streets. If you own a dangerous knife I'd urge you to protect both yourself and those around you by handing it in safely and anonymously."

The surrender runs from Tuesday, September 18 to Monday, September 24.

Trio 'brave the shave' for cancer charity

A CANCER sufferer from Skelmersdale has raised more than £1,000 for Macmillan Nurses after staging a sponsored 'Brave The Shave' at a local pub.

Pensioner John Medlicott, who was diagnosed with advanced prostate cancer in December 2016, was joined by his son John junior and family friend, Andy Allsop, for the fundraiser at the Tawd Vale Inn in Berry Street, Skelmersdale.

Seventy-four-year-old John senior said: "When the opportunity arose to support my nursing team I took up the challenge of Brave the Shave. Then my son jumped in to support my efforts, along with Andy who is the intended son-in-law of one of my friends.

"The response has been overwhelming. Initially I set a target of £300 and that was smashed within the first six days. Then we aimed for £500 and again this was surpassed very quickly.

"To date we are on course to achieve £1,300 and have managed to raise so much due to the kindness of the people that we know and their wonderful support.

Favour

"We have received money and gifts and have reached this fantastic goal that we never dreamed of.

"We have also donated gifts to the Huntington disease campaign and also the Blue Ribbon Cancer Charity, Blackpool who backed us so we have returned the favour.

"We also want to thank the Tawd Vale Inn owners for allowing us to hold the event there and everyone who sponsored all three of us and donated prizes for the raffle."

After: The shorn trio pictured with Macmillan nurses who went along to support them on the day.

Former footballer opens new hair and beauty salon

FORMER Everton and England midfielder, Leon Osman helped to kickstart a new business in Skelmersdale when he performed the official opening ceremony at Bombshell Hair, Nails and Beauty in Hutton Road.

And the occasion also featured a touch of glamour in keeping with the nature of the business with Marilyn Monroe and Audrey Hepburn 'lookalikes' joining rhe party enjoying Champagne and nibbles.

Owner, Carla Claeys will supervise the hairdressing side of the new concern while Karyn Draper will look after the nails, beauty and training academy sections.

Right: Leon Osman cuts the ribbon watched by the owners, staff and well-wishers.

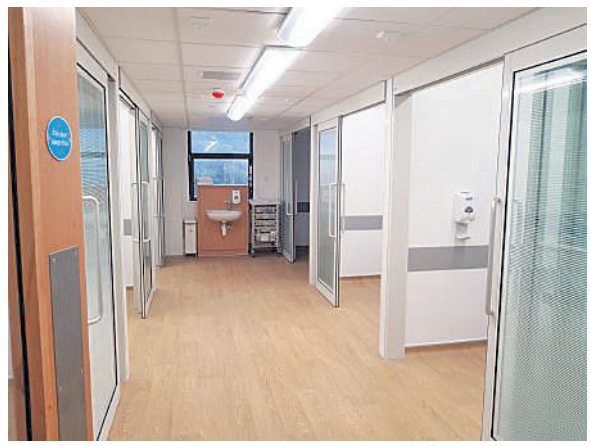
Hospital's surgical assessment unit set to go operational!

PATIENTS in West Lancashire requiring surgery at Southport Hospital will benefit from a £280,000 investment at the site.

The new Surgical Assessment Unit on Ward 10B was completed last week and is scheduled to be fully operational by the beginning of October.

Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust has also begun work on the final phase of an extension and refurbishment to A&E at the hospital. There will be a bigger reception and waiting area, and a much-needed additional clinical assessment space to support a timely handover of patients arriving by ambulance.

The programme of improvements is part of a £1.25m investment that includes the eight-bed Clinical Decision Unit opened in the spring.



The new surgical assessment unit

A&E will continue to operate as usual during the work which is due to finish by late November. Drop-off parking immediately outside the department is unavailable until then.

Convenient

Southport Hospital is also replacing an ageing CT scanner. The £350,000 contract is part of a wholesale review of the radiology estate which will see the Southport Hospital MRI scanner replaced in 2019 and the Ormskirk CT scanner in 2022.

Kath Higgins, head of nursing for planned care, said: "The new Surgical Assessment Unit is a new, dedicated space for patients with urgent referrals for surgery, as well as some patients arriving for planned procedures.

"It will be more convenient for them, their families and the staff who treat them. Because the unit can only be used for surgical patients, it will also mean fewer cancellations."

The £280,000 funding boost was pledged to Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust, to help staff prepare ahead of winter.

Matt Hancock, Secretary of State for Health and Social Care, said £145 million of capital investment had been prioritised from within the department's capital budget for hospitals across the country to help fund improved emergency care, new beds, and enhanced equipment.

He added: "Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust identified a scheme that can help with its emergency care capacity."

Edge Hill student caught up in Westminster Bridge attack helps bring survivors of terrorism together

A STUDENT at Edge Hill University who was caught up in the Westminster Bridge terrorist attack in London has helped to organise a free conference bringing together survivors of terrorism from across the world.

Travis Frain, a third-year history with politics student at the Ormskirk campus, was on a study trip to the Houses of Parliament in March 2017 when he was hit by a car driven deliberately at pedestrians.

The 20-year-old suffered multiple injuries and needed surgery and was hospitalised in London for eight days.

Following his recovery, he found support from the Tim Parry Johnathan Ball Peace Foundation, a charity for victims of terrorism set up by the families of the two children killed in the IRA bombing in Warrington 25 years ago.

Now a volunteer trustee of the Foundation, Travis is hoping the Survivors for Peace conference to be staged in Warrington on Friday, September 21 to coincide with United Nations International Peace Day, will give people the opportunity to share their experiences and kick-start a global network of survivors who will campaign and work for freedom, justice and peace.

Travis Frain

Travis said: "After the attack, I found that the Peace Foundation was the only thing in place to support myself and my family. I became a trustee as a way of giving something back and I'm delighted to have the chance to raise awareness of the charity through events like Survivors for Peace."

The conference, which is jointly hosted by One World Strong, an organisation set up by survivors of the Boston Marathon Bombing, will feature a number of key speakers including Deputy US Ambassador to the UK, Lew Lukens, and Dr Idit Albert, head of psychological trauma for terrorist incidents at NHS London.

Travis added: "The conference is primarily aimed at people affected by terrorism, but we believe professionals supporting survivors of violent conflict, the media, and the public more broadly will also find it interesting and valuable."

The Peace Foundation was established in 1995 to offer free practical and emotional support to people affected by terrorism.

In 2016, Edge Hill University awarded Colin and Wendy Parry OBE with honorary doctorates for their efforts in promoting peace and community education in the wake of a family tragedy.

● Survivors for Peace: An International Peace Day Conference will run from 10am to 4pm at the Tim Parry Johnathan Ball Peace Centre in Warrington.

Council reveals plans to commemorate centenary of end of First World War

WEST Lancashire Borough Council has announced upcoming events to mark the 100th anniversary of the end of the First World War.

To honour the sacrifices made by men and women who served in the armed forces the council has bought three Silent Soldier Silhouettes from the Royal British Legion which have poppy emblems and a base plate plaque with the text 1914-1918 and 'Lest we forget'

These will be placed at the war memorials in Ormskirk, Skelmersdale and Burscough in October.

Around the time of Remembrance Sunday the Clock Tower in Ormskirk and the Light Cube in Skelmersdale will be coloured red to show wider community respect for the commemorations.

And on Remembrance Sunday, November 11, a piper's tribute will play When the Battle's O'er in Coronation Park, Ormskirk, at 6am to mark the time when the Armistice was signed 100 years before.

Veterans' organisations, the borough council and a number of parish councils and local churches will be organising Remembrance Sunday services during the day in Ormskirk, Skelmersdale and across West Lancashire, as they do each year.

Then in the evening a beacon will be lit in Beacon Country Park at 7pm as West Lancashire joins more than 370 councils and 1,000 beacon sites across the country in a collective act of respect and recognition. Prior to the lighting of the beacons at 6.55pm the Last Post will be played across the country.

Silent Soldier Silhouettes also been placed at Lathom Park Chapel as part of events to commemorate the centenary of the end of the First World War.

The borough council says it will announce further details of all these tributes in the coming weeks. For more details of events and First World War commemorations visit the new page on the council's website www.westlancs.gov.uk/ww1.

The local authority-owned Chapel Gallery in St Helens Road, Ormskirk will also host a World War One Heritage Project recognising the role of women during the 1914-18 war, focusing on a number of women with strong links to West Lancashire.

The council has been successful in securing funding from Heritage Lottery to develop this in partnership with Edge Hill University and Ormskirk and District Family History Society.

The exhibition, 'Opening the Gates', will involve local schools and is planned to run from October 6 until January 19, 2019.

West Lancs Council's chief executive officer, Kim Webber, said: "West Lancashire is very proud of its links with the armed forces and the council is proud to play its role in recognising the importance of commemorating the centenary of World War One.

"We will all gather with great pride at Remembrance Sunday services and other events to pay our respects to those who have made the ultimate sacrifice."

The council will also be cleaning its memorials and working with Up Holland Parish Council to re-gild the name plaques on the Up Holland war memorial.

Residents who get a fruit tree through the authority's Free Tree Scheme will also be given a pack of Flanders red poppy seeds.

The popular War Horse Walk leaflet has been relaunched and is available from the council offices, the customer service point at the Concourse shopping centre and the Skelmersdale and Ormskirk libraries or can be downloaded at www.DiscoverOrmskirk.com.

Council reminder to landlords about HMO law change

Report by Henry James

PRIVATE sector landlords are being reminded by West Lancashire Borough Council about changes to the law relating to the licensing of houses in multiple occupation (HMOs).

If landlords don't comply with the new legislation and licence any HMOs they have they could face prosecution or be issued with a civil penalty.

If the council issues a civil penalty against a landlord who has failed to licence a HMO they could be fined up to £30,000. Landlords who face criminal proceedings for failing to register a HMO can face unlimited fines.

Questions

Currently a HMO only has to be licensed if five or more people forming two or more households are living there who share cooking or bathing facilities and it has three or more storeys.

But from Monday, October 1 2018 the requirement for the property to have three or more storeys is being removed.

Landlords can download a HMO licence application form at www.westlancs.gov.uk/hmo or by contacting the council's Private Sector Housing Team on 01695 585279 or by email at privatesectorhousing@west-lancs.gov.uk.

Jacqui Sinnott-Lacey, West Lancs Council's director of housing and inclusion

Any landlords with questions about HMOs can also contact the team.

Jacqui Sinnott-Lacey, West Lancs Council's director of housing and inclusion, said: "The council wants to raise awareness of this change in legislation by the Government among landlords so they can get the HMOs they own licensed before the deadline of Monday, October 1 2018."

Christ Church tower

Towering attraction at church open day - weather permitting

CHRIST Church in Aughton is set to stage its popular annual open day on Saturday, September 22 when - weather permitting - visitors will be able to climb its tower and enjoy spectacular views.

The church in Long Lane will be opening its doors to visitors from noon to 4pm with musical performances and refreshments on offer, as well as an opportunity to meet and see its bell ringers in action.

Trips up the tower will be by timed ticket only, allocated on the day, although entry is free. The top of the tower offers breathtaking views of the surrounding countryside and as far as Blackpool Tower and North Wales and beyond. However, in the event of heavy rain the event will be cancelled.

Curate, Sarah O'Donoghue, said: "The tower open day is a very popular event within our community. Climbing the 151 steps to the top gives fantastic views."

OLD BED RECYCLING SERVICE

‘Don’t miss out on benefits’ plea to county’s elderly

Report by Kenny Parker

OFFICIALS at Lancashire County Council’s Welfare Rights Service are reminding older people in the county to make sure that they receive the benefits which they are entitled to.

According to the service many older residents, particularly those over 75, are not claiming benefits such as Pension Credit, Housing Benefit and Council Tax Support.

Although eligible to have a benefit check completed by the Welfare Rights Service, a lot of residents are reluctant to ask for help, or to discuss their finances.

Over the last 12 months the Welfare Rights Service has helped older residents to claim nearly £2.7 million of benefits that they are entitled to receive.

County Councillor Shaun Turner, the county council’s cabinet member for health and wellbeing, said: “Our Welfare Rights Service provides free and confidential help and advice with benefit problems for Lancashire residents.

“We are dealing with some of our most vulnerable people, unfortunately many have no idea what financial support they are entitled to, or have ever claimed a benefit before.

Elderly residents can get a free and confidential benefit check by ringing the county council’s Welfare Rights Service on 0300 123 6739.

“Sometimes people feel uncomfortable about asking for help, but we would ask anyone who thinks they could be entitled to contact us.

“Now that winter is approaching, and we expect the weather to get colder, I would urge pensioners to get in touch and ask for a free and confidential benefits check.

“It is rewarding to be able to help so many people and see the difference the extra money in their pockets makes to their lives. In some cases a few extra pounds a week can make a very big difference to someone on a tight budget.”

The Welfare Rights Service regularly works with district councils, the Pension Service and the Department for Work and Pensions to check the entitlements of Lancashire residents. This means millions of pounds of extra benefits are secured by local people and the local economy.

For a free and confidential benefit check phone the Welfare Rights Service on 0300 123 6739 or email infowrs@lancashire.gov.uk

More information is available at www.lancashire.gov.uk/benefits-and-grants.

And for more details about keeping warm and well in winter go online at www.lancashire.gov.uk/winter/keeping-well.

New care hub opens at Ormskirk Hospital

Report by Kenny Parker

VIRGIN Care has opened a new care hub in the grounds of Ormskirk Hospital which brings together different adult community services under one roof.

Teams, including community matrons, specialist nurses, dieticians and community therapists, which were previously located across the area, are now based in Bickerstaffe House.

Virgin says it is a more joined-up and collaborative approach to the delivery of care for patients locally.

An official opening will take place on Thursday, September 20 involving stakeholders including the NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group, patient representatives and staff.

As part of the project, Virgin Care says it has invested in a full refurbishment of the building to ensure it is suited to the needs of its community teams and services and is set up to support collaboration. The company says it forms part of its wider investment plan to deliver more co-ordinated community services locally.

Virgin Care runs Adult Community Services and Urgent Care Services on behalf of the NHS in West Lancashire which includes community nursing and Skelmersdale and Ormskirk Walk-in Centres.

Debbie Curran head of community services in West Lancs.

Claire Heneghan, chief nurse at NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group.

Debbie Curran, head of community services in West Lancashire, said: "The relocation of services is a key part of our transformation plan for West Lancashire Adult Community Services. By co-locating our community services under one roof in a purpose-designed space we aim to provide a more integrated and person-centred approach to the delivery of care in West Lancashire which will ultimately improve patients' experiences of our service.

"The majority of patients will still see us in the same places they do today - but this change will mean that our colleagues can work more closely together. It's a really exciting time for our teams who are already feeling the benefits of being in a shared working space."

Claire Heneghan, chief nurse at NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group, said: "It is fantastic how teams have been brought together to enable easy communication and enhanced team working, within a fabulous environment, which embraces the use of technology to support care.

"This is the next step within the CCG's vision to provide co-ordinated care to patients who really need it in West Lancashire."

Band's new musical director comes 'home'

Report by Henry James

A MUSICIAN who first learned to play the cornet with Skelmersdale Prize Band is coming 'home' to be its new musical director.

With both parents having played with various brass bands in the local area, it was always likely that Ben Coulson would follow in their footsteps which he did by joining the award-winning ensemble based at Hutton Road, Old Skelmersdale.

After a successful four years of contesting and performing in events with the band, Ben left the principal cornet seat to play for the acclaimed Blackburn and Darwen Band.

There he settled on the flugel seat, before moving to Huddersfield after his A Levels to study for a degree in music under the expert tutorship of Phillip McCann.

Invited to join the Hammonds Band, Ben enjoyed qualifying out of the Grand Shield on two occasions, along with taking part in many competitions including the British Open, the National Finals and Brass in Concert.

Ben Coulson

Having recently qualified as a music teacher and returning to his hometown of Wigan, Ben is now looking forward to starting his conducting career with Skelmersdale Prize Band who helped him take his first tentative steps into brass musicianship.

He said: "With the Hammonds Band, I have been very fortunate to enjoy years of playing at the best contests in some amazing venues and also some brilliant concerts around the country.

"The best part for me though was the amazing team spirit within the band. This attitude is something that I would now like to bring home.

"I am looking forward to taking Skelmersdale through this next chapter in the band's amazing history and it's great to conduct William Rimmer's former band."

Through the years, Ben has been a regular visitor and friend to the band and members are happy to welcome him back.

A spokesperson for the band said: "We are looking forward to the exciting changes and challenges that a new MD brings, and we are confident that there is much success on the horizon with Ben.

"We would also like to welcome new members Chris and Wendy Thorpe and Darren Fawcett. New players are always welcome to the band."

Members of Crusaders JFC celebrate their sponsorship success.

Local quartet's £2,000 sponsorship boost for junior football team

MEMBERS of a newly-formed junior football team in Skelmersdale are celebrating after securing sponsorship worth £2,000.

Crusaders JFC under-10s, which has only been in existence since June having formerly been Skem Youths under-9s, has won the backing of four organisations in the town - the Concourse shopping centre, Knowsley Mutual Credit Union, Jerich International and Carlsberg brewery in conjunction with Up Holland Labour Club.

The Concourse, which has given £800, has agreed to be the club's main kit sponsors, while Knowsley Mutual Credit Union, based in Sandy Lane shopping centre, has pledged £500, which will be used to buy training gear, including tracksuits and winter hats.

Jerich International donated £200 for training equipment and Carlsberg brewery also gave £500 for training kits

Mixed response to new street lighting

THERE has been a mixed reaction to last week's Champion front page story highlighting a pensioner's concerns about the new LED street lighting in Skelmersdale.

Thomas Knox, who is in his 80s, and lives in Tanhouse, contacted us to say: "The new lights are not worth a carrot.

"The front of my house is now pitch black because of these lights and I could get mugged outside my front door. The square where I live is pitch black too and come the winter time it's going to be worse.

"I have made complaints to the council for the last few months about the new lights but they have done nothing about it.."

However, another resident, also from the Tanhouse area but who wished to remain anonymous, was in favour of the lights. She commented: "I had trouble sleeping at night before because the street light shone into my bedroom. The new lights are better and more economic."

A spokesman for Lancashire County Council told the Champion that because of the "the unusual design of streets in parts of Skelmersdale, where there are some very wide paved areas" they had to think carefully when installing the new LED lamps to ensure the best distribution of light and were reviewing this in some locations.

They also encouraged people to get in touch if they have concerns about particular locations.

Still time to set out on the Lancashire Reading Journey

THERE'S still time for children aged from four to 12 to take part in the Lancashire Reading Journey and take on a number of tasks along the way.

Known as the SCART (Science, Culture, Active, Reading and Technology) Club, the initiative, organised by Lancashire County Council, is in its fourth year.

And the authority says it has proved so popular this year that it has been extended to run until Saturday, September 29.

It is free and youngsters wishing to take part simply need to visit a library to join in and complete two tasks from each of the five SCART themes.

For more information visit www.lancashire.gov.uk/libraries; call in at your local library or ring 0300 123 6703.

Military memorabilia group are geared up for weekend display

Report by Kenny Parker

Members of the Heatons Bridge Military Vehicle Group at a previous display.

MEMBERS of the public are invited to go along to a display of military hardware as a local history group gear up to put their collections on show at a biannual event.

The Heatons Bridge Military Vehicle Group will display a whole range of vehicles and other war memorabilia at the Heatons Bridge Inn, Scarisbrick on Saturday and Sunday, September 22 and 23.

The gatherings at the venue have become established as twice-yearly events, courtesy of proprietors Steve and Jacqui Winrow.

Retained

The military enthusiasts group preserves and renovates vehicles and equipment of different ages and displays them at various shows and events across the region.

As well as the display, visitors on the Saturday will get to see some of vehicles - mainly jeeps and Land Rovers - take part in a 'road run' around 1pm.

There will also be a military camp and de-activated weapons to see.

Steve and Jacqui have retained a Second World War free-standing brick pillbox which formed part of the home-guard defence provisions on the grounds. That will also be part of the display.

Organiser, Paul Connolly, said: "The road run gives the vehicles a chance to 'clear out their cobwebs' and makes a fun sight for unsuspecting members of the public who suddenly see a bunch of WW2 vehicles passing by, waving, and occasionally operating their horns and sirens!"

Heatons Bridge Inn is located on Heatons Bridge Road, near to the Leeds-Liverpool Canal.

The event is free and organisers advise that it will wind down from Sunday afternoon. Enthusiasts will be on hand to answer any questions.

For more details contact Paul Connolly on 01704 545786 or group secretary, Angela Brown on 07774931464.

Super League rugby squad pledge support for 24-hour walk in aid of PTSD

Report by Kenny Parker

MEMBERS of the Wigan Warriors Super League rugby squad have pledged to lend their support to a fundraising event in aid of a West Lancs charity that uses rescue horses to provide therapy for ex-servicemen, blue light workers and others suffering the effects of mental trauma.

Stable Lives, a community interest company based at Parbold Equestrian Centre, aims to raise awareness about the effects that post traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) and mental trauma can have on sufferers and their families.

The group's next major fundraising event is a 44-mile sponsored walk from Preston to Parbold over 24 hours.

This will begin at Broughton ambulance control station at 3pm on Friday, September 28 and is scheduled to finish at the same time the following day at the equestrian centre in Bradshaw Lane, Parbold where the walkers will be greeted by the Mayor of West Lancs, Councillor Noel Delaney.

The centre provides courses and utilises equine therapy and land-based activities to improve confidence, self-esteem and self-worth for those suffering with mental trauma.

This is the third year the company has undertaken an event to raise awareness and funds for the cause. Last year teams carried a stretcher up and down Parbold Hill for 24 hours.

Stable Lives founder, Carrie Byrom, said: "A number of Wigan Warriors rugby players will join us at the beginning of the walk and then the following day as we progress through Wigan. The money that we raise will go directly into courses and respite days for individuals and their families dealing with the effects of exposure to mental trauma.

Carrie Byron (left) with one of the teams which took part in last year's 24 hour sponsored stretcher carrying up and down Parbold Hill to raise money for Stable Lives charity.

"If anyone wants to join us as an individual for the whole walk then they are welcome. We currently have a mix of our volunteers, military veterans, paramedics, police and firemen but if people are keen and fit then they are very welcome.

"Alternatively anyone wanting to join in for just a part of the walk can get in touch and we will tell them where we are expected to be at certain times along the route.

"Also any groups wanting to take part - such as guides, scouts or explorers for example - would also be more than welcome."

For more information you can contact Stable Lives on Facebook; by email at stablelives@hotmail.com; or via the website at www.stable-lives.co.uk. Donations can be made through Facebook or at www.justgiving.com/crowdfunding/stable-lives.

Name change for advice service

CITIZENS Advice Lancashire West has changed its name to Citizens Advice Lancashire after expanding to take over the service for Blackburn and Darwen.

Chief Executive, Diane Gradwell, said: "We are pleased to announce we are now able to provide the much-needed Citizens Advice services for the residents of Blackburn with Darwen as well as the residents of West Lancashire, Chorley, South Ribble and Wyre."

The charity has also obtained accreditation as a Disability Confident Committed Employer as part of a Government scheme aimed at helping employers to recruit, retain and develop people with disabilities and health conditions.

Loss of Green Belt would be devastating for our community both present and in the future

RE: The West Lancs Local Plan 'preferred options' we would like to register our objections to the proposals for Bickerstaffe ward.

Bickerstaffe is a small farming community. Loss of Green Belt land will be devastating - not only for the present - but future generations. (No point in building lots of houses - and there is nowhere on which to grow food to feed people). A precedent will be set to use Green Belt land when there is plenty of other land and brownfield sites.

As a small, rural community, we cannot sustain an influx of people on the scale proposed. Gone will be the community aspect of village school, mission hall, pensioners days out, etc.. In short, the lifestyle of residents will be lost forever.

It is over 50 years since the community of Old Skelmersdale was destroyed by building Skelmersdale New Town and the promises made then have never been fulfilled. Now the 'powers that be' want to destroy Bickerstaffe and surrounding areas.

It would seem there are planning legislations in force to protect sites which house great-crested newts, bats, barn owls etc. - what about protecting community sites for humans!

Bickerstaffe has already suffered from a motorway being built which cut the parish in half, losing land and houses in the process; been forced to suffer the eyesore of electricity pylons built across the parish; lost our bus service, post office and shops, and don't even have a gas supply. Enough is enough!

If the officers making these decisions think it is morally acceptable to destroy our community and farmland, then they are either totally insane or blinded by the monetary incentives on offer.

Iain and Linda Mathie, Bickerstaffe.

Why no mention of proposed Skem railway station in Local Plan Review?

IN a recent Champion article about West Lancs Council's grand plan for the borough there was comment that the proposed Skelmersdale railway station did not seem to be included.

Hopefully a station will eventually be built, but when it is, plenty of land must be set aside for car parking. Being so close and convenient to the M58 it will become extremely popular with commuters.

The brand new Maghull North station is designated a 'park and ride' for Liverpool but already this has proved totally inadequate. Even before the road signs were put up to advertise it, the car park filled up completely every weekday.

Otherwise the new station would have been very handy for Skem people travelling into the city as it's only a 10-minute drive away from here, close to junction 1 of the motorway and only 20 minutes from Liverpool Central l with a train every 15 minutes.

So, when it comes to Skem station, please will the planners get their sums right?

Adrian Tayler,
Tanhouse, Skelmersdale.

We don't need 15,000 new homes!

I AM dismayed by the publication of the proposed new Local Plan.

Nobody wants 15,000 new homes in the area - the district does not need 15,000 new homes.

The Green Belt should be preserved and fields should not be dug up to be replaced with housing.

If the council was so desperate for new houses, why have they allowed premises such as the Fat Olive restaurant, The Elms surgery and the Post Office to be converted into student accommodation?

The council should be ensuring that Edge Hill does more to provide student flats on campus, thus freeing up houses in town.

I believe the current Local Plan runs until 2027,so why is there such a need for a new radical plan now?

The council's priorities should be easing congestion through Ormskirk town centre and filling up the empty shops (and not with charity shops).

Paul Coney, by email.

Advert about staying in the EU was factually inaccurate

I WISH to complain in the strongest possible way about an advert that you carried in the Champion dated September 12.

I realise that the purpose of any advert is to enhance the subject of the advert but not to tell outright lies or to be factually inaccurate. The phrase 'this is probably the best beer' is acceptable. 'this is the best beer in the world' is not.

The advert in question appeared was titled 'We Must Stay In The European Union'.

I fully accept that many people have different opinions about this subject and welcome an honest debate. The problem was, that this advert contains numerous statements that are factually inaccurate.

Claims such as 'We can stop Brexit', are factually wrong. Brexit has been started and cannot be stopped. The advert claimed that, 'the value of the pound will continue to fall'. At the time of publication, the value of the pound had been rising for several weeks.

The advert claimed that millions of British people work in Europe and millions more work in the UK. This is correct. What is not correct is the 'ALL' of them are worried about Brexit. You only have to find one person that isn't worried and this statement is proven to be false. The rest of the advert is littered with statements that are unsubstantiated and lack any evidence to support them.

I am surprised and disappointed that a paper of your quality would allow such a blatantly false advertisement to appear.

Margaret's right about street lights

HAVING read the front page story in the Skelmersdale Champion (September 12) headed 'Not Such A Bright Idea', I could not agree more with Margaret Huyton about the change in the street lighting.

I have lived on the Tanhouse estate for just over 20 years and seen a gradual change and not for the better.

Grass verges are in a poor state and since becoming a member of the 'walking stick brigade' I have also become aware of the poor state of some footpaths, especially those that are flagged, because of their proximity to mature trees whose roots are lifting flags making a hazard for the elderly and those who have to use a walking stick.

And now we have bad lighting to put up with.

Chris Grogan, Tanhouse.

Authorities need to do more to deter the red light 'jumpers' at danger junction

I REFER to the letter by Mr A. Prescott (Champion, September 5) with regards to County Road in Ormskirk.

On Tuesday, September 11 , there was yet another collision at the Hayfield junction. I don't know the cause, however, given the location of the damage to both saloons, I can speculate.

I don't feel that his proposal of making this a 30mph stretch will have that much of a significant impact on collision reduction.

Firstly, for me, it will never get enforced as the presence of Roads Policing Officers - aside from Lancashire Partnership vehicles covering the south division of Lancashire Police - particularly in Ormskirk are non-evident.

Secondly, I don't think that a reduction in the speed limit will deter anyone from still chancing their arm and jumping a red light.

For me, the only deterrent is a traffic signal camera which will cause drivers to think twice about contravening a red traffic signal

I regularly travel to work through this junction and have fortunately never had a collision, although I have had near misses crossing the major road, caused by vehicles traveling along the A59, jumping the red light, especially early morning.

Having been a driver for 31 years and of that, driving 26 years within my professional capacity, I would be quite happy to stand up in a court and say that the majority haven't been travelling in excess of the speed limit. It is just the Russian roulette of thinking that it is safe to jump the red light.

This letter is however in support of Mr Prescott's view that something needs to be done before the next unnecessary collision occurs and this time, potentially fatal.

Come on West Lancs Council and Lancashire County Councill you can't 'unknow what you know.' This junction is a potential death trap and as a public body, you need to be cognisant of Human Rights legislation and the rights to be protected by Article 2 - our right to life and the protection of it by law.

Woodlands Hospice

CARING FOR LOCAL PEOPLE SINCE 1996

Woodlands Hospice is committed to delivering Specialist Palliative Care for people with life-threatening illnesses including Cancer, Motor Neurone Disease, Heart Failure and Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease across North Liverpool, South Sefton and Kirkby in Knowsley.

We honour people's rights to dignity and respect at whatever stage of their illness by our aim to improve the quality of life for patients and their families.

To continue to provide our services free of charge we need to raise more than £3,500 every day. We rely on the support of the local community through fundraising events, campaigns and donations

In addition to this our charity shops bring in vital income for the hospice. We currently have four charity shops situated in North Liverpool and South Sefton: Norris Green, Orrell Park, Old Swan and Maghull. We are always looking to open new shops and will be opening more shops in the near future.

All our shops sell a wide variety of items, from good quality ladies, gents and children's clothing and shoes, to household items.

Please pop in and see the lovely selection of items we have for sale and grab yourself a bargain or two!

We are always looking for donations of good quality items to sell through our shops. Maybe you have unwanted clothing just taking up space in your wardrobe you would like to donate. Each of our shops will gratefully accept donations during open hours.

If you cannot drop off your donations, please contact us on 0151 529 2630 and we will be more than happy to collect items from you.

Animal Magic set to light up Martin Mere

Popular family event returns to wetland centre

Report by Henry James

Eye-to-eye (almost) with a feathered friend . . . a youngster gets up close to an owl at a previous Animal Magic event at Martin Mere.

WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre is staging its wildlife spectacular, Animal Magic on Saturday and Sunday, September 22 and 23.

Working with Exotic Zoo, regularly featured on TV's Blue Peter, Animal Magic is the Burscough centre's most popular family event, with more than 5,000 people attending last year.

Visitors can meet an armadillo, go on a donkey ride, see meerkats, hug a greyhound, visit a petting zoo, watch Asian short-clawed otters play, get close to a variety of birds of prey or be scared by lots of reptiles and insects!

And as most of the displays will be indoors, a great day out is guaranteed whatever the weather.

Amazing

Centre manager, Nick Brooks, said: "Animal Magic is our most popular family event at the centre. We always try to do events at Martin Mere that provide a fantastic opportunity for our visitors to experience something new.

"You can get very close to or stroke animals such as an armadillo and meerkats and see all kinds of animals you'd be unlikely to come across in your day-to-day life and it is amazing to see so many children enjoy the experience."

Among the many events and experiences on offer over the weekend are:

- Free pond-dipping at the Pond House to discover what creatures you can see in the ponds. There will also be a range of family craft activities for children between 11am and 4pm, including making animal ears. Some may include a small charge.
- Wild Walk - meander through the muddy meadow, wander in the wet woods and get lost in a reedy ramble spotting wildlife and giant sculptures.
- Have a go on Martin Mere's award-winning canoe safari and boat tour experience, as well as building dens out of conifer and exploring the new adventure play area.

Events run from 10am to 4pm and normal admission prices apply. For further information go to ww.wwt.org.uk/martinmere and click on events, or call 01704 891220.

Group's grand gesture for lung foundation

MEMBERS of the West Lancs and Southport Breathe Easy group have presented a cheque for £1,000 to Petra McCauley of the British Lung Foundation (BLF).

The welcome donation will be used by the foundation to help fund vital ongoing research into respiratory diseases.

Following the presentation at the Breath Easy group's recent meeting Petra explained to members how the BLF and other respiratory charities, such as Asthma UK, are combining together to fund essential cutting edge research.

Although lung disease has just as great an impact on the nation's health as heart disease or cancer, it only receives 2% of the UK charity medical spend.

BLF relies on its local Breathe Easy groups, run by volunteers, to fundraise for such research, as well as providing support and information for local sufferers.

In the North West area two pro-active groups offer help and support for people with respiratory disease and their families and carers.

These are the West Lancashire and Southport Breathe Easy Group, which meets monthly in Ormskirk; and the Breathe Easy Sefton North Group, which meets monthly in Formby.

New parking meters difficult to use - claim

...but council says system offers 'exceptionally good value' and machines are standard in industry

Report by Kenny Parker

NEW parking meters introduced by West Lancs Council in Ormskirk town centre aimed at simplifying charges have been criticised as being difficult to operate, particularly for elderly drivers.

The authority implemented the new system for its car parks in the town earlier this year saying the move reflected ongoing discussions with local businesses who felt the previous pricing structure discouraged people staying for extended periods.

The revised charges mean that visitors can park at the authority's town-centre car parks for up to three hours for £1.

However, the new machines brought in as part of the changes have come under fire.

Local motorist Peter Clarke said: "Once again the council have surpassed themselves by ensuring that those using the new parking meters have to type in their registration number into the machine to get a ticket. You therefore have to stoop down to use a keypad in which the numbers are small and difficult to manage.

"No doubt this is to ensure that tickets are not passed around when someone leaves the car park and has some free time left. But whoever made this decision to install this income generator should go and see the impact this has had for a number of visitors, predominantly elderly, who have difficulty navigating this.

One of the new ticket machines.

Potential

"I was in a queue of seven people trying to get the tickets and I ended up assisting three to use the meter. All passed comment on how stupid this was and a couple of ladies became embarrassed and will probably be reluctant to return."

In response the council said that the new pricing scheme represents "exceptionally good value" for visitors and defended the introduction of the new machines.

A spokesperson told the Champion: "The new machines were bought to give the council more modern and better machines. They have potential for utilising video displays which can help promote both Ormskirk and other local businesses.

"The machines are capable of providing additional other useful functionality which will also be of benefit to car park users and local businesses, and the council is also looking into this.

"The entering of vehicle registrations into the system helps enable us to consider in future the utilisation of, for example, mobile phone top-up. Aside from taking the money for parking there is no intention to use them to make more money out of the motorist.

"It is now common practice for pay and display car parks to have machines where drivers enter their vehicle registration number. The replacement machines are as supplied by one of the largest suppliers of this type of equipment in the UK and as such are in regular use throughout the industry.

"In addition, the car parks are regularly patrolled by council officers who can help car park users if and when required."

Martin Mere news

ADVERTISING FEATURE

Martin Mere awaits the arrival of the Geese

Over the next couple of weeks there will soon be the familiar sound of geese passing overhead – yes Autumn has officially begun, and WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre will soon be expecting the arrival of up to 30,000 Pink-footed geese after their journey from Iceland.

Reserve Manager, Louise Clewley, said: ""the geese need perfect weather conditions to make the journey from Iceland but we would expect up to 30,000+ geese using the reserve by late September and throughout October."

From Wednesday 3 October, Martin Mere will be open until 7pm every Wednesday and Saturday to allow visitors to watch the full spectacle of seeing the geese come into roost. Visitors need to have entered the centre before it closes at 6pm but the nature trail and hides will be open until 7pm. Normal admission charges apply.

On Saturday 6, 13, 20 & 27 October, experience the haunting sound and the thrill of an early morning hide visit with a warden. In past years at this time, the whooper swans have started to arrive back from Iceland and there will be thousands of pink-footed geese on the reserve – you can watch them as they wake and leave the roost. The event starts at 7am and includes a full English breakfast. The cost is £16 and you must book in advance online at wwt.org.uk/martinmere and visiting the 'What's on' page.

Seeing tens of thousands of geese "murmuring" and "honking" and ultimately taking off together is one of the greatest sights in nature and these events allow the community to take pride in the fact that the geese choose the North West to stop and rest.

WWT Martin Mere is open every day from 9.30am to 6pm and parking is free of charge. Situated off the A59, it is signposted from the M61, M58 and M6. The Centre is also accessible via the Southport to Manchester and the Liverpool to Preston line by train from Burscough Rail Stations. Visit the web site www.wwt.org.uk/martinmere/ to find out what's on all year round at Martin Mere and the other eight centres.

School cleaning job taught me a valuable lesson

EVEN as I sit here tapping out this week's Dog I should in fact be sitting in a reserved seat as a guest at Maghull High School's annual presentation evening.

In fact, this will be the first of such evenings I have missed over the best part of 30 years, and though I cannot in all truth say they are a high spot of my year, they certainly do mark a milestone in my life.

The reason for my absence this time around is a real stinker of a cold, and though it has got somewhat better than it was yesterday, I'm still snivelling, coughing and wheezing like a - oh, I don't know, like a thing that wheezes.

For the first time in my life I don't reckon I'd be altogether welcome at the school. In fact, I well remember the school - then Maghull Secondary Modern - being built. It is but a five minute walk from where I live.

And it also provided me with my first (and only) experience of work outside journalism. When I, along with my boss, was made redundant from my job in the PR department at BT's Colchester HQ, I 'came home to mum' in Maghull and eventually to the Champion (while my boss arguably did better becoming an MP!).

Mind you, I still work for the Champion, while my erstwhile boss and friend got the sack in a subsequent election.

But back to Maghull High. Lounging around Maghull with time on my hands, I met the then caretaker at Maghull High who offered me a job as a school cleaner.

The early morning hours suited me fine, but it became apparent that my presence as the sole male cleaner upset one or two of the existing cleaning staff. So I agreed that instead of cleaning classrooms I would busy myself making sure the outsides of the school were clean and litter-free.

I thoroughly enjoyed it and took a real pride in making Maghull High's exterior spotless each morning. And as a bonus, I was allowed to use the incinerator too - a comfort in the cool morning air.

Anyway, since rejoining local newspapers I suppose I sort of 'adopted' my local school and have delighted to see it grow in stature from being regarded as probably bottom of the league of secondary schools in Maghull to one of high national status.

Now I am three-quarters of the way through my self-imposed two-day isolation and in truth feeling a good bit better, which is just as well because if I don't emerge from hibernation tomorrow the paper won't receive this column and you won't be able to read it.

Bad news indeed. But worse, if I do not get about tomorrow I will run out of puds for my dinner, as well as the vital green vegetables for the main course and the goats' milk which I believe is thought better for your tummy than the plain old cow variety.

Also, the dogs are I fear getting bored with me moping and coughing around the place - though I'm afraid Tina (who is moulting) will find a revitalised me ready with the dog brush, which she hates.

Cinders finished her moult while on holiday but she loves being brushed and will take any amount of grooming. In fact, she seems to take enjoyment out of just about every aspect of her frantic life.

I seem to have strayed quite a way from schools, though the then Tina did accompany me occasionally when I was cleaning outside the school.

I'll tell you what my few months of school cleaning did do for me though. It banished any stupid thoughts I may have harboured about manual workers being somehow inferior to those in office jobs, and it made me realise that Cinders might just have something - you can take pleasure from some of the most unlikely things.

Ormskirk duo target pro-am trophy glory

Report by Henry James

A FORMER hockey player who only took up golf four years ago is all set to tee off with a chance to win a prestigious pro-am event.

Ormskirk Golf Club member Pat Johnson will partner professional Ali Gray in the final of the WPGA Lombard Trophy at the Vila Sol resort in Portugal on Thursday and Friday, September 20 and 21.

Retired dentist Pat and Ali, who has featured in both previous versions of this event, will be aiming to triumph in the £7,800, Coca-Cola and Pestana Resorts-supported showpiece after winning the regional final at Dunham Forest Golf Club in Cheshire when they shot an eight under par round of 64.

And Pat reckons she has had a good preparation for the contest thanks to her home club. She said: "I have to get used to playing with people I don't know for this competition and at Ormskirk the club have started a day where you can just turn up and play nine or 18 holes and it's not set in stone who you play with. It's a bit like throwing your name into a hat for a partner.

"This encourages people to come and play with people they don't know so well or have never met.

"When we won at Dunham Forest, I'd never played in anything like that before. Now I'm trying not to be too nervous and stay calm."

The 27-handicapper has made rapid progress since taking up the sport and says her appearance in the Lombard Trophy final shows what can be achieved.

"It's still hard to believe. I am surprised but enjoying it. My husband says if I had a short game I'd be dangerous!," she joked. "As an ex-hockey player I can hit a ball hard so I'm relying on my driver. My short game needs some work but that's all down to practice."

County Labour group slams plan for rail review

PLANS by the Government for a rail review following months of disruption for train commuters in the North West have been criticised by the Labour group on Lancashire County Council.

They fear the proposed review will not go far enough and are calling for urgent action instead.

Prime Minister Theresa May has called for a fundamental review of the rail franchising system.

However, Labour Group say there is no clear substance, time scale or structure to the review or any form of public consultation regarding the future of rail services.

In response to reports of Mrs May's plans for a review of the franchising system, County Councillor Erica Lewis, Labour's shadow cabinet member for highways and transport on the council, said: "This year has been one of ongoing chaos for rail passengers in Lancashire.

"We need urgent action, not a review that will likely not report until 2019. Kicking the problem down the tracks doesn't help those of us who have our commutes disrupted, are forced to make alternate travels plans, or in the worst cases have lost jobs and opportunities because of chaos on our railways.

Alternative

"The last review in 2013 decided the franchise system was 'not fundamentally flawed' but how many times does it have to fail before the Government acknowledges what passengers know - the system as it is doesn't work.

"Labour has a clear alternative plan - to return the railways to public ownership.

"Lancashire Labour continues to call for Transport for the North to be given the powers to cancel train franchises in the north immediately, and in the long term to manage train services so that trains in the north respond to local needs rather than Westminster convenience."

County Councillor Erica Lewis, Labour's shadow cabinet member for highways and transport.

Association's final lecture on wartime recollections

THE West Lancashire World War 1 Anniversary Association will bring its commemoration of the 1914-18 war to a close with a final lecture on Friday, October 5.

The association was founded four years ago by members of various history societies in the borough to commemorate the events of the war and to remember both the local people who fought and died and the effect it had on their families at home.

During the last four years the association has held a programme of 22 public lectures on various aspects of the war.

The last lecture on October 5 will be given by Richard Houghton and is entitled The Last Hundred Days Before The Armistice.

This will take place at Ormskirk Library in Burscough Street starting at 5.45pm. The event is free and doors will open at 5.30pm.

Cabinet updates policy on tourist site road signs

LANCASHIRE County Council has updated its policy on the use of brown signs to help people find popular tourist and leisure destinations.

The council's cabinet agreed the new criteria to be used when deciding applications for the signs, which has been updated to meet the most recent guidance from the Department for Transport.

The policy covers the rules about the types of destination that can be eligible for a brown sign and how they can be used. The signs play an important role in helping to direct people to tourist and leisure facilities but their use is strictly limited to keep motorists' attention on the road and avoid cluttering roadsides with too much information.

The signs are paid for by the tourist or leisure facility that makes the application. Existing signs are unaffected by the new policy.

Important

County Councillor Keith Iddon, cabinet member for highways and transport, said: "We have a duty to make our roads as safe and easy to use as possible, and the brown signs with white writing used to direct people to tourism and leisure destinations are one of the tools we can use.

"Tourism is very important to Lancashire's economy and these signs are a way of guiding visitors along the most appropriate route, and helping them get safely where they want to go.

"They're particularly useful when the destination is off a main route and may otherwise be hard to find using existing directional signage.

"Our new policy clearly sets out the rules for using these signs and should make it easier for potential applicants to understand them in future."

Tina celebrates 25 years of guiding Slimming World members to healthier lives

Tina Whewell

A SLIMMING World consultant who has helped countless people to achieve their personal targets over the years is celebrating a milestone of her own.

Report by Henry James

Tina Whewell has been running Slimming World groups in Ormskirk for 25 years, inspiring thousands in the local community to start losing weight and improve their health.

She opened her first group in September 1993 and is a multi award-winning consultant.

Tina said: "Lots of people want to lose weight but they don't know how or where to turn for help. Often they have tried losing weight before, either on their own or by following other diets, without success.

"This leaves people thinking that they can't do it, that they'll never succeed but at Slimming World they really can take control of their weight once and for all.

"I know from my own experience that it can be nerve-wracking to walk into a group for the first time but I can assure people that there's no judgement, just respect and care. Every single person in the room has been there themselves, everyone understands exactly how it feels.

"I've made some great friends in the last 25 years and had some amazing results. We have a member in group at the moment who has transformed herself by losing an incredible 10st 8lb in just 18 months."

Bank worker caught drink-driving after moving car to avoid a parking ticket

A BANK worker was caught drink-driving after moving his car to avoid getting a parking ticket.

Alexander McSweeney, 20, of Whittle Drive, Ormskirk pleaded guilty to driving with 67 micrograms of alcohol per 100ml of breath when he appeared at Sefton Magistrates Court. The legal limit is 35mcg/100ml.

The court heard that police officers were on mobile patrol in Southport on August 19 when they saw McSweeney get into a Vauxhall Corsa and drive out of the Iceland car park on King Street.

"He smells strongly of alcohol when approached by officers," prosecutor Rachel Chandler said, "and he admits that he has been drinking."

Miss Chandler said that McSweeney had no cautions, reprimands or convictions on his record.

Solicitor David Kilty said that McSweeney works in Wavertree, Liverpool, for a high street bank and the inevitable driving ban would add an extra two hours to his daily commute to and from work.

Saying that he was very remorseful, he said that McSweeney had been out with friends in Southport.

"He was moving his car from Iceland's car park after he was told by a friend that if he left it he would get a ticket. He was going to move it and go back and join his friends. But, of course, he had more to drink than he had thought. It was a moment of madness that he deeply regrets. I am sure that you will never see him before these courts again."

The magistrates fined him £275, banned him from driving for 17 months and ordered that he pay £115 in costs and victim surcharge.

Aquarelle Guitar Quartet performing in Skelmersdale Concourse shopping centre last week.

Quartet tour pop-up shows in shopping centres in borough

AQUARELLE Guitar Quartet have been touring 'pop-up' performances in shopping malls and supermarkets in Wigan, Skelmersdale, Chorley and Burscough to announce the opening of Parbold Douglas Music's 2018-19 season.

The Aquarelle Guitar Quartet will perform in the Auditorium in the Village Hall, Parbold this Saturday, September 22 at 7.45 pm.

From their roots at the Royal College of Music Manchester more than a decade ago, the Aquarelle Quartet is now acknowledged as one of Britain's leading music groups.

These four classical guitarists (Michael Baker, Vasilis Bessas, James Jervis and Rory Russell) are praised as a dynamic and innovative quartet that is known for their extraordinary ensemble in performance.

Aquarelle's original arrangements of music from a wide range of styles, periods and cultures is a feature of their performances.

Their Parbold programme draws on music from four continents and a host of styles and genres, featuring many of the group's most popular performance pieces, in what the Gramophone calls their "blend of high-octane virtuosity, relaxed lyricism, tonal richness and perfection of ensemble.

Acts returning with memories of Merseyside

P.J.Proby at Kingsway Club with Pete James (guitar on right) and Frank Johns (keyboard) IN 1990

Report by Ron Ellis

THE last ever Sixties Gold Tour arrives at Southport Theatre on Wednesday, October 3 and on top of the bill are three acts with special memories of Southport and Merseyside.

Sixties superstar, ponytailed P.J. Proby, was the country's biggest attraction in 1965 before he split his trousers at the Croydon Empire after which his career nosedived.

I first saw him at The Liverpool Empire on a Sunday night show when the curtain came down at 10.30pm prompt. Proby, though, carried on singing and even after the sound had been switched off he crawled under the ensuing safety curtain to finish his number to the delight of screaming fans.

I met him in London, some time after the Croydon incident, and we stayed in touch over the years. He played the Southport Floral Hall a couple of times, made an album with Savoy Records in Manchester and then in 1989, he made a CD featuring a song I had written for him called Hot California Nights with Kenny Parry of The Merseybeats on guitar and Frank Johns, of Bootle-based Bilbo Baggins Band, on keyboards.

To launch the CD, Liverpool club owner, Roy Adams, put P.J. on his Kingsway Club on Southport Promenade. The band was augmented by Southport guitarist, Pete James (a.k.a. Eddie Vincent) on lead guitar.

Hot California Nights was later recorded by the Womersley Brothers, Barry and Don. Barry Womersley was in Southport's Rhythm'n'Blues Inc. who had a hit with Louie Louie in 1964 and who later joined Inner Sleeve, winners of T.V.'s Opportunity Knocks.

By the early 90's, Proby was back on top with his first hit for 30 years, Yesterday Has Gone, featuring Southport hitmaker, Marc Almond, and he was soon touring on the theatre circuit, starring in a number of nationwide shows promoted by Jack Good and Bill Kenwright, before joining the Sixties Gold tours. I spoke to him at his home in the Cotswolds and he said he is looking forward to being back in Southport again.

Both The Searchers and The Merseybeats too have made regular visits to Southport over the years, appearing at the Kingsway Club, The Floral Hall and Southport Theatre.

The Searchers started out in 1960 playing mainly on the Northern side of Liverpool. John McNally, who lives in Blundellsands, remembers playing at Litherland Town Hall and Aintree Institute for impresario, Brian Kelly. He said: "Brian ran Alpha Sound in Waterloo and supplied music equipment to many local bands. We also played St. John's Hall in Bootle where Dave Forshaw from Litherland ran the dances."

The Merseybeats too worked for Brian Kelly and Dave Forshaw at those same venues. Founder member, Billy Kinsley, who lives in Thornton said: "Dave was just fourteen and a half when he first started the gigs at St. John's. He had The Beatles on the bill twice, and he is still running his agency today, well over half a century later."

Billy later formed Liverpool Express in the 1970's, with whom he had several worldwide hits and, although back with The Merseybeats, he still does occasional gigs with them today.

All three acts you can see live onstage at Southport Theatre on Wednesday, October 3 on the final Sixties Gold Tour.

Happy 60th Birthday

Love from Mariah,

Katrina and Susan

xxx

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

RIMMER JANET ANNE

Lindon, Michelle & Mike would like to thank their wonderful friends and family for their heartfelt messages of support which brightened our darkest hours and to the overwhelming congregation who joined us from far flung places to celebrate her life, we are truly humbled by you all. Thank you also to Sally at MLS Funeral Directors for their thoughtful and considerate assistance in guiding us through the process and to Rev Jane Morgan MBE for conducting the most fitting of services for Jan.

BIRTHDAY MEMORIAMS

DOYLE CHRISTOPHER DENHAM

19th September 1956

Happy Birthday in Heaven
Together in the same old way
Would be my dearest wish today
Love Dad

DOYLE CHRISTOPHER DENHAM

19th September 1956

Birthdays in Heaven
Decorations of Gold
Where the years come and go
And you never grow old

Where you celebrate with angels
And past family there
With no illness in sight
Just Love everywhere

So we dont need to worry
How your Birthday was spent
Because you're safe in Heaven
And our wishes were sent

Though we know you are safe
Even though you're away
We love and miss you
Even more today

BRITTON JOAN

9th September 2018
Aged 60

Our Joan.
As kids we lived together, we fought, we laughed, we cried, We did not always show the love, we all had inside.
We shared our dreams, and plans, and some secrets too. All the memories we share, is what bonds us now to you.
We grew to find we have a love that is very strong today, and always true.
It's a love shared by our family that will never fade away.
You were our Mother, Daughter and Sister, by nature of birth.
We couldn't have chosen a better one.
Be at peace now.
Your devastated family.

Nigel Mansell definitely won't approve of you driving this close to the car in front

Two seconds is a surprisingly useful measurement...

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.co.uk

TWO seconds. It might not seem that long as increments of time go but it's a surprisingly useful way of measuring things.

It is, for instance, how far I'll get into each episode of Bodyguard before I'm completely and utterly lost trying to work out what's going on.

It's also roughly how long I can listen to any Black Eyed Peas song before wishing for a pair of noise-cancelling headphones. It's also, if Tesla's own claims are to be believed, how long its new Roadster will take to thrust you to 60mph from a standstill.

But it's also a short space of time I see being routinely ignored every time I hop into the car and go to work – yes, extra petrolhead geek points if you already knew that it's the time you're supposed to leave between your own car and whoever's up front.

The road safety mantra's the same regardless of whether you're pursuing a tractor or the new TVR – only a fool breaks the two-second rule.

Which is why I'm glad that the man who briefly made moustaches cool in the early 1990s, Nigel Mansell, is giving his backing to a new campaign to stop people tailgating.

The 1992 Formula One world champion reckons it's an 'utterly deplorable habit' that does precisely zilch to make you a better driver.

I'm glad that he's involved, because none of my more radical solutions would've got past the Department for Transport's sense checkers.

My initial idea of having snipers on motorway bridges with their crosshairs trained on tailgaters obviously wouldn't have worked – if only because every time someone cuts into your safe space, they briefly make you the tailgater until you hit the brakes, and the last thing you'd want in that tense moment is a bored ex-squaddie shooting out your front tyres.

Then I thought about having some sort of bendy metal pole that shoots out from your rear bumper, and extends and retracts according to your speed, so its length always corresponds to that safe two-second gap.

It'd be rigged up to some highly charged battery, so that any German saloons that dare venture too close are briefly treated to 50,000 volts.

However, I can't see either of these ideas making into commuting reality, so how about treating the 'utterly deplorable habit' the same way the Government already does with smoking?

It's simple – every car is fitted with a TV screen embedded in its bootlid and a rear-facing radar scanner, not unlike the ones already used for parking sensors. Get too close and the screen would show you images of cars that have totalled by tailgaters – and Mr Impatient Sales Rep backs off.

If it works with cigarette packets, why can't it work with Ford Fiestas?

Failing that, how about some sort of front-mounted radar sensor that automatically shuts the throttle if you edge too close?

I suspect roughly none of these ideas will make it even close to reality, but as someone who's had a car rear-ended and written off by a BMW-driving sales rep you can probably understand my frustration with impatient clots who drive too closely.

Nigel Mansell is definitely a step in the right direction, though.

If he can make moustaches cool, who knows what he can do for road safety?

Nissan has treated its Juke to some new visual tweaks and a better sound system

NISSAN has treated its Juke to some visual tweaks, a better sound system and new colours and optional extras.

The five-door crossover (pictured, right) has a newfront grille, headlights, fog lamps and new wheels, and it's now available in the new Vivid Blue and Chestnut Bronze shades.

Inside it's fitted with a more powerful BOSE stereo, and there are now two new personalisation packs on the options list.

It's available to order now, with prices starting at £15,505.

Fiat 500's sportier cousin to hit market

THE Fiat 500's sportier cousin is about to hit showrooms across the North West.

Abarth's 595 is being offered as both as a hatchback or a cabriolet, with the choice of four trim levels.

The turbocharged 1.4-litre petrol engine is also available in four different states of tune.

The most powerful sends 180bhp to the front wheels, and there's an active sports exhaust to help you enjoy it to the full.

Prices for this range are starting at £15,690.

Ormksirk end season as runners-up but 65 points behind champs Northern

THE 2018 Liverpool & District Cricket Competition drew to a close with Northern, Southport & Birkdale and Old Xaverians duly crowned champions of the top three divisions, writes Glenn Wallworth.

Ormskirk finished 65 points adrift in second place as they ended with a home draw against Rainhill.

The visitors chose to bat and thanks to a century from Tyler McGladdery 124 (15x4 & 3x6) and an unbeaten 34 from James Clarke were able to declare on 220-4 off 50 overs. In reply, George Lavelle top scored with 35 as the hosts finished on 142-6 with Ryan Williams taking 3-54.

Surprisingly nobody from the league committee was on hand to present the trophy to Premier Division champions Northern who finished off their campaign with a 56 run home win against third placed Formby.

The hosts elected to bat and thanks to a third century in four innings from Liam Grey 101*, 58 from Chris Brownlow and an unbeaten 38 from Justin Snow they were able to declare 252-4.

In reply, Ben Aitchison 51 and skipper James Seward 39 top scored for the visitors who like so many other clubs this season were undone by the spin of Tom Sephton who took his season's league wicket tally to 93 with 8-61 which included a hat-trick as Formby were dismissed for 196.

In the First Division, relegated Burscough finished off their campaign with a three wicket defeat at home against Wavertree, the hosts decided to bat first and thanks to runs from Alan Murray 81, Trevor Webster 33 and Lee Berrie 27 managed to post 221 up on the board with Theo O'Brien taking a hat trick in his 3-29. In reply, skipper Josh Birch hit a century 117 (14x5 5x6) and Tom Oughterson an unbeaten 30* as the visitors wrapped up victory on 222-7.

Southport & Birkdale finally clinched the First Division title after hammering Fleetwood Hesketh by nine wickets at Sea Cop.

The hosts chose to bat and were subsequently dismantled for just 43 by a fine spell of bowling from seamer Andy Warhurst whose career best return of 8-24 included a hat trick.

In reply, two unbeaten knocks from Adam Phillips 21* and Isaac Lea 22* (including winning six) took S&B to victory on 49-1 to kickstart a heavy night of celebrations back at Trafalgar Road.

Well that wraps up the league reports for this season. Thanks to all the clubs and individuals who've helped me out with information over the season, if any clubs sign or lose any players to other clubs over the winter months please get in touch and I'll do a couple of round ups over the close season.

Over the next fortnight I will be bringing you the league statistics from the eleven local clubs we cover, including those in the runs, wickets, dismissals behind the stumps and catches in the outfield as well as the popular (unless your name appears in it) most ducks.

Back to back home games offers chance for much-needed victory

SKELMERSDALE United have the first of an Evo-Stik Division One West home double on Saturday when they entertain Newcastle Town for the first time since their days in the North-West Counties League.

This is then followed by a game on Tuesday, September 25 when Colwyn Bay travel over for another league encounter.

Skelmersdale will be in search of that vital first league success, but they will have a decent opportunity against Newcastle.

The Staffordshire based team are only five places and three points ahead of Dave Powell's team in the league table, they have won an away game but have only scored six goals this season, so they are not setting the league on fire.

Consistency has been a problem all season for Skem. Last Tuesday they went very close to picking up a point at home to unbeaten league leaders Radcliffe before losing 2-1 in a very close battle, but then they suffered a 5-1 reverse at lower mid-table Trafford on Saturday.

Next Tuesday, Colwyn Bay will arrive boasting a record of winning two out of their three away games, so will on paper pose a more serious threat. Burscough fans will be bereft of footballing activity this coming weekend as they don't now have a scheduled fixture until they travel to Padiham on Saturday, September 29.

This is because Burscough's opposition for this Saturday Ashton Athletic are away in the FA Cup at York City this weekend.

Skem still in search of first win of campaign after heavy defeat

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

Trafford 5
Skelmersdale United 1

SKELMERSDALE United remain without a win in seven league games after their latest defeat at the hands of Trafford.

Hopes had justifiably been high that Skelmersdale would register their first win of the season at Shawe View, having picked up their first point last week with a 0-0 draw at Glossop.

Trafford were vulnerable as they had only five more points than Skem going into the match and it was fairly even in the opening 20 minutes, with neither team carving out a decent chance and Skem looked promising.

27 minutes had gone when Trafford took the lead with the first really good strike at goal. When Dan Wilkins latched onto a poor clearance on the left near the halfway line there was no sense of serious worry.

He was then able to take the ball into the 18 yard box from where he unleashed a vicious drive across Skelmersdale goalkeeper Scott Maloney into the far corner of the net.

Straight after the break territorially it was pretty even, but Skelmersdale had the better attempts at goal. Charlie Duke saw a goal bound effort blocked then with the rebound Edgar was only denied by a superb reaction save from Cooper. This was followed by a far post header from a corner that went wide.

When the teams had been announced it was a surprise to see Trafford striker Aaron Burns on the bench, as he is well known for a his goal scoring prowess.

Sean Yeldrem scores a consolation goal for Skem. Picture by John Driscoll

In the 54th minute he was introduced as substitute and it took him precisely a minute to announce his arrival, gathering the ball on the right he cut inside and hit a powerful left-footed shot inside the far corner of the Skelmersdale goal.

Skelmersdale's confidence is low at the moment and going 2-0 down hit them hard and for the next ten minutes it was almost all Trafford, Skem only clinging on via three last gasp interventions.

Burns became creator on 64 minutes getting free down the left his ball into the goalmouth was a gift for forward Matt Bryan who converted comfortably to make it 3-0.

Bryan went on to complete his hat-trick with a 74th minute slide in at the far post and a header two minutes from time.

Skelmersdale had kept up the work rate and it was that spirit that kept the score down, but in the end they did get something to show for their efforts, Sean Yeldrem pouncing on a rebound from keeper Cooper to pull a goal back in added time.

Manager Dave Powell praised his team's first-half showing saying: "We should have come in at half-time one all, the difference was they had one maybe two chances and scored, we had two chances and didn't.

"After the break we had chances to equalise and they hit us on the break.

"Burns is a quality player, which is what we are missing at the moment. The lads have kept going and got some consolation at the end, but too late, those chances during the game we have just got to start taking them, because it is putting too much pressure on the midfield and the back four. If we can just get a few goals we can turn this around. I am still confident in the lads."

Wembley hopes dashed for Linnets after cup exit

Irlam 4
Burscough 2

BURSCOUGH'S hopes of going to Wembley ended for another year after they were knocked out of the FA Vase.

There was only two minutes gone when Irlam struck, Burscough lost possession when on the attack and the ball went to number seven Marcus Perry who played the ball into Matty Boland in the penalty area from the right the home striker firing a first-time effort into the Linnets net.

Four minutes later Burscough equalised. North-West Counties League player of the month Terry Cummings broke away down the right hand side, he played an inch perfect ball to striker Chad Whyte and the big man did what he does best.

At times Burscough were their own worst enemy. Straight from the kick off Perry was again given far too much room down the right, this time he cut inside to make it 2-2. The Linnets lead had lasted less than a minute.

Burscough were doing at least their share of attacking and in the 28th minute Ward was only denied by a superb last gasp challenge when he was bearing down on goal. Then Cummings look set to score but the referee pulled up play for a handball.

In the 31st minute Irlam made it 3-2 with another counterattack after a Burscough attack broke down, Boland romping away down the left then crossing to give Perry his second goal of the afternoon.

Both managers must have had words during the break as it was a lot tighter in the middle of the park in the second-half and chances did become scarcer as a result.

Nine minutes in Burscough got their chance to level, Cummings slipped a wonderful through ball to Whyte, only to have his moment spoiled by a terrific save from Irlam goalkeeper Lee White.

In the 70th minute Irlam hit Burscough with the killer blow and this time it was bad marking that was to blame.

Number three Joel Amando sent in a corner and home defender Karl Cassell was allowed to roam free to bag the winner from close range.

Burscough need to look at some of the basics of football. It is all well and good being highly entertaining and scoring plenty of goals, but they must cut down on the mistakes and defend better if they are to progress up the North-West Counties Premier Division table. They have the ingredients to move up the league, they need to become more streetwise if they are to do so though.

Kitchens

Whether you are looking at ripping out the old and installing a brand new kitchen, moving your kitchen to a new room or are simply looking to update and modernise the space, there are a number of ways to achieve the look you want. An important factor to consider is whether you will carry out the work yourself, or look to employ the services of one of the area's many reputable companies.

For many of us, the kitchen really is the heart of the home. Have you ever wondered why it is that family, and friends all tend to congregate here. Our kitchens are where we cook, eat, entertain and socialise, so it is important to create a space that ticks all of these boxes – and more.

For a busy family home, a fitted kitchen is a bespoke solution that offers fantastic functionality and will streamline the space enabling you to make the most of every inch. Go to any kitchen company and you will be shown a range of units in a variety of styles and sizes that can be fitted into virtually every shape and size of room imaginable. Most will offer a free design service too enabling you to visualise the different options available for your room before making a decision.

Looking for some budget kitchen ideas?

If your current kitchen is looking a little tired, you don't have to spend a fortune to give it a fresh , modern look. All it takes is a little time, effort and creativity. If your cupboards are looking a bit dated, in terms of style or colour, why not consider replacing the doors - providing the rest of the unit is still in good condition. Alternatively, a few coats of paint can refresh the look of them and both of these options are cheaper and less hassle than replacing the entire kitchen.

It's amazing how much we accumulate over the years in our homes. And this also applies to the kitchen. Set aside some time to sort through your kitchen cupboards and organise them so you have access to the things you use most. Clearing your worktops can also instantly improve the look of your kitchen and this doesn't cost you a penny.

Fires and Fireplaces

There really is nothing else that holds the appeal of an open fire. Somehow it is basic to our very appreciation of 'home' and all it stands for. In some parts of the country in fact, a fire is lit in the grate the moment a family moves into a new home, summer or winter, and often before the removers have finished their work.

Open fireplaces fell from favour in the 1960s. Grates were boarded up or taken out. Many new homes were built without chimneys or mantelpieces. The advent of universal central heating seemed to make them obsolete, and with TV becoming so important, this became the focal point in many sitting rooms.

It wasn't long before this proved a bad error of judgement from the design point of view. People who had homes without fireplaces, put false ones in. Those who owned boarded-up grates, opened them up. In smoke free areas this was not the easiest of proceedings. Before a fire could be lit, a special grate had to be installed so that smokeless fuel could be burned.

Many chimneys had deteriorated so that not only the services of a sweep were required, but builders too, had to come and find ways of lining flues so they would safely conduct the smoke and fumes away.

Then of course there was the matter of lighting the fires once they were ready. Almost a whole generation had matured without having had any experience of lighting a fire. A simple enough matter? Well not really. Lighting the fire is a skill our grandparents took for granted, but it was something a new generation had to learn from the very basics.

Needless to say, not everyone welcomed the hard work of laying, fuelling, stoking and cleaning a grate on a daily basis. We live very different lives to those of our predecessors. Many of us don't have the time for such extras. Fortunately technology has come to the rescue. The result is there are hundreds of different possibilities available, that will give your home the comforts of an open grate, without the discomforts of the extra work.

To start with, the simplest open grates are so designed that they need the minimum of attention in order to work at full efficiency. Ashes fall into specially designed trays that merely lift out without scattering the residue all over the floor. Special underfloor draught channelling helps the fire to light swiftly, keeps it burning at the correct rate and pushes the maximum of heat out into the room. New flue liners cut down on the need for frequent sweeping. And there are a whole range of fire lighting devices that make getting the blaze going a simple task in the first place.

Then there are the frankly 'fake' fires. These include coal-effect gas and electric fires, that heat instantly without any fuss, yet still give the warm appearance of the glowing coals. For a really living flame, there are the gas log fires that look so realistic you have to restrain yourself from throwing rubbish into them.

Another alternative is the solid fuel stove. There are many of these on the market today and they range in design from the frankly modern, to the reproduction antique. They mostly have see-through stove doors that allow the glow of the fire to brighten up the room yet, so efficient are they, they light and burn without any trouble, and take only minutes to clean.

Needless to say, all these types of fires will run alone, or in conjunction with a boiler. That in turn will fire the central heating, or just provide vast quantities of piping hot water whenever it is needed.

Furniture & Fabrics

Until you really need to go out and buy new furnishings for your home, you probably won't fully appreciate the changes in style, the wealth of design ideas and the sheer range of materials available in the shops today.

There comes a time however, when some refurbishment has to be done, when we move perhaps, or when some radical renewal of décor or internal building work has been carried out? Then it is we decide, not just to renew the decor, but to replace those familiar 'household goods' with which we have lived for so long. We are faced with the whole cultural shock of design ideas and a range of materials and fabrics we had never thought to see.

However, this is what living in the second decade of the 21st century is all about. Never before has there been quite the freedom of choice, scope of inspiration or value for money in furniture and furnishing fabrics with user-friendliness, durability and eye-appeal.

Today's textiles come in man-made and natural fibres. The former have all the easy-care facilities you could possibly wish for, ready built-in. The latter will have been treated with the latest technology to make sure they too come up to scratch.

Then there are the variety of textures including smooth, chunky or deep piled. Today's fabrics don't just look good, they also have 'feel' appeal. Choose your fabrics for their impact. Have them made into curtains, blinds, cushions, lamp shades and loose covers.

When choosing furniture, yet more considerations come into play. It must look right of course. It must be of a quality that will withstand the wear and tear of everyday use. It must not cost more than one can afford and, whether it is seating or a bed, it must definitely be comfortable.

Good furniture in the shops today is a cunning integration of technology and craftsmanship. It is made from a variety of the finest woods and man-made materials where appropriate. It is built to last, to give years of hard service and, a lot of it is destined to be the collectors' antiques of tomorrow.

Built-in furniture is still a popular innovation, especially in bedrooms and kitchens. However, there is a concerted move back to free-standing pieces, and the most up-to-date homes are furnished with a subtle combination of the two.

Woods in use reflect a rising anxiety for the tropical forests that once gave us our furnishing timbers. Now the mode is for the home-grown, renewable stocks, such as walnut, beech, oak, apple, pear, pine and yew. Once again we are discovering the beauty of our home-grown timbers and displaying them at their best in our homes.

When it comes to beds however, technology has really taken over. Beds are designed to support the wide variety of body sizes, and personal tastes found in the population at large. Beds are designed to help with physical problems such as arthritis and general back problems. It is now possible for a couple to share a double bed in which one side provides a different degree of softness to the other.

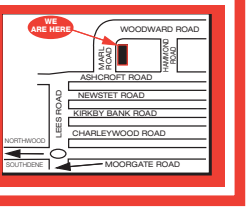
SUPERB DEALS ON CORNER SUITES!



Carpets and Flooring

The floors of your home are the base of everything in it. They are in a very special way, a pallet on which you can mix and match the colours and textures of everything in each room. Change the flooring and you change the whole character of your room.

Floors however, serve a number of purposes other than something firm on which to stand. They can be insulation against cold or noise. They can add warmth. In some rooms such as the kitchen or bathroom they should provide a waterproof, easily washed and dried surface. If the floor is also warm to the touch, it will also prevent condensation.

The variety of flooring materials available are numerous enough to give you a different choice for every room in even a large house, so choosing which is best for your purposes can be no easy matter. It is wise therefore to look at each individual room rather than follow the 'one size fits all' route.

If you have wooden floor boards, have them sanded, stained and polished for a really, up-to-the-minute, different look. You could paint them in a bright colour. There are specially hard wearing paints available. In modern houses however, boards may have been replaced by block board or concrete which will nevertheless, provide a good flat surface for a laminated flooring - easily available from most DIY stores.

This attractive wooden flooring can be laid easily by one person following the instructions provided by the suppliers, as long as the surface is relatively flat and even.

Alternatives could be linoleum or vinyl, in sheets or tiles which are best laid when warm. Then there's cork, ceramic or quarry tiles, all of which give a good looking, hard wearing surface though it's worth bearing in mind the position of the floor in question. For instance, glazed ceramic tiles will lose their glaze quite quickly if they are placed near an exterior doorway that opens out onto a gritty garden. Ceramic and quarry tiles are generally cold to the touch and noisy to walk upon, so not totally suitable in bathroom or kitchen. They may not be a very secure and safe surface in a household where there is an elderly individual or a tottery child. Cork on the other hand is always warm, seldom slippery and effectively deadens sound quite efficiently though it must be sealed correctly before it is walked upon.

If a hard surface doesn't attract you then you will have to resort to carpeting of some sort and again the choice is truly huge with materials ranging from man-made to natural fibres including wool, cotton or sisal.

Carpets come in large squares, runners, tiles or broadloom rolls and can be laid wall to wall or strategically as required.

Depending on your taste you may wish to go for something contemporary and plain, traditional and colourful or oriental. The material your carpet is made from should depend on where it's laid and the amount of traffic it will carry. Your supplier will be able to advise. However, it is worth remembering that the better wearing carpets are the best laid ones so it's worth considering having any carpet professionally laid. And if you do want a single colour effect throughout the house, you can go for a broadloom made in a variety of qualities. The carpet supplier will usually visit to measure up and will advise on which quality should be laid where.

Lastly, when selecting a floor or its covering, do consider how often it may need to be cleaned. Obviously the hard surfaces are easier to clean than piled surfaces but the latest carpeting is usually treated to shrug off dirt and stains so it may be this need never be a consideration.

Adding value to your home

Improving your home is always necessary as inevitably wear and tear take their toil, as we enter different stages in our lives and as trends change the way we live. However some home improvements can add considerable value to your home, which for many of us is the main asset that we own.

Convert your basement

Transform your basement into a living or storage space and you could increase the value of your property by as much as 30%, providing the build cost per sq foot is less than the price per sq foot of the area. Converting a cellar or basement into an additional room in your home is one of the most economical home improvements you can make as it generally doesn't require planning permission. If you're planning to make structural changes to a listed building however, ensure you speak to a local planning officer first.

Convert your garage into living space

If you find that your garage is being used to store everything and anything, but not your car, then why not better utilise this space and turn it into somewhere you can enjoy.

Building an extension.

An obvious benefit, adding more space to the home by either expanding a room or adding more. This can also be done across two floors enabling you to add extra bedrooms and bathrooms as families grow. Extensions however have had some poor press in the past because of the fact that they change the fabric of the building and great care must be taken at the design stage to ensure you have the correct planning permission and that the flow or the look of the building is not affected negatively.

Loft Conversion

Not only will a loft conversion create additional space in the home without the need to move, research has indicated that converting your loft to create an extra bedroom can add up to 15% to the value of your home, especially if you can include an ensuite bathroom as part of the conversion. Most lofts can be converted although it's a good idea to get an architect or builder to double check before you start planning.

Bathroom

The bathroom is another area where buyers may have their own ideas and styles but a clean, modern, well maintained room will be money well spent. Installing a brand new bathroom can be expensive though. If your current bathroom is just a little dated rather than in very poor condition then you may not make back a huge amount more than the cost of the upgrade.

Make the living area open plan

Open-plan spaces are very appealing, so it usually pays to knock down walls that are separating the kitchen and dining room. It also makes the space feel larger and lighter, which will help the saleability of the property.

Conservatory

As we have already touched on, increasing the amount of living space within the home is a sure fire way to increase the value of a property. If you are considering added a conservatory, make sure the style is in keeping with the rest of the property. Under a certain size, no planning permission is required.

Turn an under used room into a Home Office

Whether it's working from home, doing a few admin tasks or the kid's homework, more and more of us are looking to incorporate a study area in to our home. If you've only got a nook or small office zone to play with, make the best use of any vertical space available by building shelving units right up the ceiling and buy a pair of steps to access them if necessary. Also ensure that cable management and integrated task lighting is included if you're starting from scratch with a bespoke built-in solution.

Don't be afraid of introducing pattern into a small space behind a desk, as an interesting wallpaper or mural will cleverly distract from a messy desk and can play with the perception of space. If wallpaper isn't your thing, you could use a pinboard, wall-mounted clipboards or rows of curtain wire with small pegs to hang up inspirational tear sheets, photos and postcards to make an interesting backdrop to your study area.
